Goodbye to the 89th Batt.

Great Throng of People at Depot to Bid Our Boys Farewell

It appeared as though the entire city was on its feet yesterday last to bid farewell to the brave lads of "B" and "D" Companies of the 89th Battalion, under the Command of Capt. Walker, Assistant Adjutant, in the absence of Major Gaiskill who was quarantined with measles, Capt. Trueman, and Capt. Robt. Pearson. The boys marched from the Exhibition grounds to First Street South and then to the depot, where they were at once placed on the train consisting of eight cars. The 5th platoon leading and ending with the 13th. The mighty crowd at the station surged up against the cars and quickly the windows were raised and the hands of the lads were grasped by friends in a farewell handshake. Many dry-eyed, sorrowing relatives and friends with their hands raised in prayer to put on a cheery front, but it required nerve to do it. No unit which has left Red Deer has ever received such an ovation as the 89th Battalion. The last time the boys left the city was in 1914, when they were sent to the front in the 1st Canadian Trenching Battalion. The boys were met at the depot by a large number of friends, and the train was crowded with people. The boys were met at the depot by a large number of friends, and the train was crowded with people. LIFE DULL AT SALONICA

Hard Work Restores Discipline and Condition to Men off Transport

A London correspondent writes from Salonika as follows: Officers' recreations here being limited, those of the men are naturally few. Route marches, parades, cutting of lawns, building roads, fill up most of the day, and for amusement in their short leisure they are thrown upon their own resources in the way of football, singing and the never-failing trench organ. Transport difficulties hinder the arrival of big recreation tents such as would be put up nearer home by caterers and private funds, and bell tents do not lend themselves to the purpose of entertainment. The large pitched-tent sheds which the French use for housing their men, but which camp life at Salonika makes dull, the time of rest that the new arrivals have cannot but be of great value to our troops, and the opportunities it gives for drill and manoeuvres will enable them to tune themselves up to fight the pitch after the slackness that inevitably sets in during a voyage which frequently lasts more than a fortnight. There is much hard work enough before our Balkan Expeditionary Force. The country is difficult to an unusual degree, the enemy is well equipped and holds strong positions.

Two-piece Sock For Soldiers

Mrs. Herbert Printz, wife of the Vice Consul for Norway in Toronto designed the new type of military sock illustrated here. The foot part can be changed without disturbing the puttees and the leg portion can be used for armlets.

FAMOUS WAR HORSES

Great Pride in General's Chargers is Doomed by Motors

One probable result of the introduction of mechanical vehicles into warfare will be the abolition of the old custom of cherishing the memory of famous war horses. When generals of famous wars were mounted on horseback before the advent of the motor car, their favorite chargers were to receive many honors. When a statue of Lord Kitchener was erected at Calcutta, the famous white charger which carried him through many important campaigns, Wellington's famous charger, Copenhagen, when he died was buried full military honors. The Iron Duke's horse was a magnificent steed, and he carried his master many hundreds of miles in the most difficult of the battle of Waterloo. "If he fell," said the Duke, "it was on standing corse as I sat in it." The remains of Napoleon's white stallion, Marengo, are preserved at the Royal United Service Institution, while other of Bonaparte's steeds, which he purchased at St. Helena, and bore the name of King George, figure in many famous paintings. The horse which Lord Ronald rode in the Balaklava charge was cherished by him until its death, when a tombstone was erected over its grave.

It is the duty of every patriotic man, woman, boy, and girl to qualify in the mechanism and the use of the rifle—Bishop Frothingham.

If we have to mortgage our last shilling, we shall insist on having the means of enabling our gallant soldiers to fight—Hon. Reginald McKenna. A cycle is a man who has eaten a bad dinner or loved the wrong woman. Duty is what one expects from others.

Recruiting for 187th Batt. Continues Strong
Central Albertans Flocking to Standard
Lieut.-Col. Robinson is a brave man. This is evident from the fact that he started out about ten days ago to visit surrounding towns and places on the Lacombe branch on an inspection tour in a car which he had just received and which he had never driven in fact he had never driven any car. Imagine a man starting out in a car which he is supposed to know little about, and eating it. Well, some of the knowing ones who have had experience with cars, smiled at themselves. But all unconscious, the Colonel sallied forth and made a trip of four hundred miles cross-country, skipped through mud holes, evaded sloughs, ploughed through all most impassable spots, and he was never tired up. Now it seems all most impossible to believe it, but there is only one solution, and that is, that he is an old rancher and able to handle anything that stands on four legs, and being utterly fearless, he didn't know what he was up against, and didn't care, and got through all right, and enjoyed the whole outing immensely.

Among those who have enlisted in the 187th Battalion, we notice the name of H. H. Forwood, of Calgary, who has been associated with Y.M.C.A. work for a number of years. He is a native of the province of Alberta, and is second only to the famous Geo. Goulding, champion of Canada. In 1914 he left home to come to Lethbridge, and in 1901 he carried off the championship honors at Calgary in a mile competition. In 1909, in a three mile walk for the championship of Canada he came second to Geo. Goulding only. At the age of 17 years, he had won the championship of 524 miles in 9 hours, and his best time for a straight mile is 8 1/2 minutes. He holds 18 medals besides a number of cups, shields and other prizes. Pte. Forwood will be a credit to the 187th battalion, and makes one more record breaker in the ranks of the provincials of Alberta. We understand that Private Forwood will attend the school for N.C.O.'s in the near future.

Settler Independent—Two weeks ago to-day, Sgt. Gaetz of the 187th Central Alberta Battalion landed in Lethbridge, in England, to recruit in this district. So far the 187th have made a record in the recruiting line having enlisted seven men in the first six days. The names of the men enlisted in the 187th from this district to date are: George McLaughlin, Fred Kemp, Loring Marsh, E. Godwin, J. Robinson, T. Lewis, Joseph Paul, Fred Lockwood.

Gadsby Correspondent, Settler Independent—George McMorris, who left Gadsby at the outbreak of war in August, 1914, to join the 187th, has just returned to town on Monday and was met by a large circle of friends who were glad to welcome him back home. The evening of a social evening was held in Gadsby church in his honor when over 100 friends assembled to welcome him back home again. The evening's entertainment consisted of solos, a duet, chorus, a short talk by Mr. E. Bottomley, and a very interesting and instructive talk by Mr. McMorris which was most highly appreciated by all present. Mr. McMorris entered the trenches on the 6th of January, 1915 and was almost constantly at the front until this March when he left for Canada. He now has a commission with the 187th Battalion which is being formed at Red Deer.

Olds Gazette—Samuel D. Watts has just published his new song, "I've Got the Craze," which will be on sale here shortly. Sam's pencil is the hand of the 187th, and when he returns from France we can expect some compositions from real life at the front.

Dialysis Pioneer—The following young men have joined the 187th Battalion at Lethbridge: Roy (Royal Bank), Lorne Good, H. E. Doepel, Levi Rupp, J. R. Kelly (Union Bank), Morris Shultz, Ralph Wilson, August Jermundson and Lawrence McNaughton.

Castor Advance—The platoon of the 187th Battalion at Coronation, is meeting with splendid success, up till Wednesday evening, they have been receiving a lot of recruits from A. S. Sokkusi, F. Hood, W. A. Haese, J. Adamson, R. Cameron, H. Leake, A. Tolson, R. Casey, T. Helmolt, A. Keith, C. McEwen, J. Namik, F. Whiteside, A. E. Smith, A. Skoldoff, P. Tolokno, C. Strickland.

payable half yearly in funds at par Red Deer or at any City in Canada or United States, as may be specified by the purchaser.
2. That tenders be called for these treasury bills up to noon June 10th.
That tenders be called for the $3,000.00 debentures recently authorized up to noon of June 10th.
We would point out that should treasury bills as recommended be purchased, the tenderer will be able to nearly clear up our past indebtedness and should then be able to finance for the balance of the year without difficulty, though at the end of the year we will, without doubt, be faced with the same difficulty of arrears of taxes and would then likely have to issue treasury bills against the 1916 arrears.
Unless these treasury bills are sold to the public to defray the past indebtedness, stop outside work altogether, and possibly the schools might have to be closed as we can see no other resource of raising sufficient money to keep things going.
TAX ARREARS ASSETS
Arrears of taxes, total $75,441.27
LIABILITIES
Bank of Montreal, notes against 1914 taxes $12,000.00
Bank of Montreal, notes against 1915 taxes 31,000.00
El. Co. balance due 1915 1,405.00
West. Gen. El. Co. notes due Imperial Bank 3,750.00
School, balance due from 1915 8,645.78
Separate school balance due from 1915 445.45
Municipal school balance due from 1915 682.33
..... $57,928.50
The amounts due the Western General El. Co. do not include interest. We also have borrowed from the Bank of Montreal $15,000.00 against 1916 taxes.
All of which is respectfully submitted.
J. A. CARSWELL,
A. T. STEPHENSON,
Commissioners

Moved by Alderman Lord, seconded by Alderman Hotterill that Clause 1 of the Commissioners' report be amended to read as follows:
"That treasury bills be issued to the amount of $30,000, repayable one-third in two years, one-third in three years, and one-third in four years, with interest at 6 p.c. per annum payable half yearly in funds at par Red Deer or at any City in Canada or United States as may be specified by the purchaser; and that the treasury bills be issued, against the arrears of 1915 taxes."
Moved by Alderman Galbraith, in amendment, seconded by Ald. Johns, "that the Commissioners report be amended and that the Commissioners be asked to invite Mayor Hardie of Lethbridge; Mr. John Harris and Mr. H. H. Gaetz, city mayor, to examine the city's financial position, and, having done so, to advise with the Council as to a line of policy in city finances; and that this examination be made as soon as possible; that tenders be called for the $3,000 debentures recently authorized; and that the Commissioners arrange for a little delay on payment of June coupons."

The amendment was put and declared lost.
Ald. Lord's motion was then put and declared carried, and the report was adopted.
Moved by Alderman Colison, seconded by Alderman Galbraith, "that the Commissioners with the finance committee visit the Manager of the Bank of Montreal as soon as possible, and place the results of this meeting before the Council."
The meeting adjourned at 12 midday.

Military Notes

The second death in action reported within a week in the ranks of what originally constituted the 12th C.M.R. is reported in Saturday's casualty list, Trooper Herbert A. Nethercott being mentioned as having made the supreme sacrifice. Pte. Nethercott for some time operated a milk delivery business for the convenience of summer campers at Sylvan Lake and was well-known around the city.

Malcolm McDonald reported dead of wounds with the Mounted Rifles is believed to have been a member of C. Squadron, 12th C.M.R. He was a married man and played football one season with the Callics in the city league.

That a second Rocky Mountain House man of "C" Squadron, 12th C.M.R. Pte. Herbert Nethercott has made the supreme sacrifice, at the front is the intelligence conveyed in Saturday's casualty list. The death of Pte. J. E. McLeemert the first casualty being recorded last week. Little is known locally concerning Nethercott, outside of the fact that he enlisted here. No next of kin is mentioned.

Letter From The Front

Pte. Jack Hives of the 12th Mounted Rifles "C" Co. wrote the following letter to his sister, Mrs. Walker, of Pougham:

Dear Sister,—Just a line to let you know we are quite well. We are at present in the reserve trenches, and I am not alone with you, he had boils on his shoulder and he was sent to the transport for a few days as he wasn't able to carry his equipment. I received your cake while at the front line trenches on Easter Day, it was fine and in good shape. We were out of the trenches for seven days, but only six nights, four nights out of the six I was on working parties. The last night, which was Saturday, we did not get to our journey's end on account of shrapnel fire, I am thankful to say I didn't get hit, but was only twelve men in the party I was in, and three of the men got hit. Ivan Greene was along with me and he got wounded in the leg, got knocked off my feet, but was soon on again and hit for cover. I tell you a fellow can move pretty quick when he hears the trenches. The fellows look lovely over I was a stone pillar, belonging to a ruined house, but it served the purpose alright. Shrapnel fell all over me, but I was not hurt, rolling across the road at night. We had lovely weather, but it is raining just now because it is Saturday, we did not get to our journey's end on account of shrapnel fire, I am thankful to say I didn't get hit, but was only twelve men in the party I was in, and three of the men got hit. READY FOR A FIGHT
AT MINUTE'S NOTICE

The Tommy Atkins of South America's Birdland is a Warrior Who Fears Nothing

Let us introduce you to General Helmet Crest. Perhaps he would resist to tackle single-headed and entrenched German position, but down in the valley of the Amazon everything that matters in a tree top or camp in the branch of a rubber plant knows him as the best and bravest fighter in birdland.

The Helmet Crest isn't as big as the hammer of an old-fashioned Winchester, but his execution on the battlefield is just as effective as if he were a whole cannon. When trouble in the shape of a hawk or an infuriated rattlesnake comes along, the little birdie doesn't call on the enlisted men to do the fighting. Not this. That's a game to his own liking.

HELMETCRESTED HUMMINGBIRD and with his helmet at his cockiest angle and his sword-like bill ready for action he jumps into the thick of things. When the season is over, the birdie is sure to be holding the fort, and if humming birds could sing, for our military friend is none other than the humming bird's South American cousin, war songs would echo round the Andes, but, as you know, Old Dame Nature never put a hum in humming bird. There are four hundred different kinds of them, but only the good old warrior Helmet Crest has any war record.

Clever Indian Woman

"MINNIE"

Strange as it may seem, this good-natured, comfortable-looking Indian woman plays negro mummy parts in the movies.

It was by chance, one day, when she was a character, when that Minnie played her first "mummy" role. She did it so cleverly that she has never had a chance to play much else since.

Minnie lies down by the Pacific in a little Indian hut. She is one of the regular members of the big stock company of players that works on a big ranch near Santa Monica, California, every sunny day.

GOLF AND SOBRIETY

The most satisfactory sensation in baseball is the feeling of a base hit when the bat meets the ball squarely. The "feel" of a clean golf drive is a worthy rival. When that little ball sails out straight, true, unslipped or not pulled, you want to do it again, and you are gone, writes Christy Mathewson in the New York American. I believe just this one thing has converted most of the followers of the game of golf. They want to get another good drive and another and another, until it takes hold of a man like the desire for alcohol does a drunkard. If that prohibition folks say is true, the results are far more pleasant. Golf gives you a clear head the next day. Alcohol gives a dull eye and a fogged brain. To my mind, golf is the bigger force for prohibition than all the talks in this world.

"Frenck" Back

The latest complaint to get a name of its own in this war of surgical surprises is "Frenck back." Many cases are under treatment at Brighton. Here they come almost exclusively from the trenches. Usually the injury is caused by sandbags or masses of earth buried on the necks of soldiers by bursting shells. Some patients have been so seriously injured that they have to be carried on stretchers. Fortunately, a rapid and effective cure has been found, and quite a number have recovered after a short course of treatment.

BRITISH SCIENTISTS ARE AMONG THE BEST

Our Military Inventors Have Led Where Germans Copied—Let Brains be Mobilized

The British Empire is mobilizing its brains for the manufacture of shells. When shall we mobilize our scientists? asks a British writer. The scientist is the greatest of soldiers, for the news that the French Academy of Science is in the closest possible touch with the military authorities. They inform the academy of new needs as they arise and submit questions for solution. Thus in present conditions war entanglements are usually removed by a very clumsy process—using high-explosive shells to tear down their supports. It might be possible to devise some more effective scientific means of achieving this end. The present idea is to use poisonous gas by the use of respirators. It would be easier and quite as practicable to neutralize the asphyxiating gas with some other gas or vapor. To give an example, chlorine fumes would be rendered harmless by soda solution sprayed. In place of choking vapor there would be a snowfall of a cold viscous substance, chlorine of sodium, or common salt.

Science Decides
The war is more and more becoming a matter of science. German scientists have given various kinds of asphyxiating gases and bombs charged with formalin and other deadly fumes. They have turned out high explosives in gigantic quantities and of relative stability. When the allied blockade interfered with the supply of nitrates and nitric acid is an essential ingredient in every explosive, the German chemists produced their plant by which nitrogen was extracted from the air.

There is an ill-founded idea that the British are inferior to the Germans in scientific acquirements and inventiveness. This has been much exploited by the Huns, but it is sheer nonsense. One of the most famous American military inventors states that he has made an immense fortune out of British brains and declares that the British are greater inventors than all other nations. Sir William Ramsay recently showed that the most remarkable chemical inventions of the last few years were the achievements of Englishmen.

We Show and Huns Learn
The British army was the first in Europe to be equipped with the machine gun and to grasp its value. Having done this it stood still and was content with a tiny allowance of these guns. The Germans ordered that they should have half a dozen more, whereas we are compelled to offer the German a whole lot more. It is a splendid record of many splendid lives. Britain led the world in the adoption of the Dreadnought type, and here again the Germans merely copied us. The one real German invention is the Zeppelin, and to this a reply could long since have been discovered.

MORAL GAIN BY WAR

Inspiring Interpretation by Most Famous Philosopher of France

As President of the Academie des Sciences Morales et Politiques, Henri Bergson, France's most dearly loved philosopher, delivered an address on the meaning of the war. He shows how, when Germany was working out her natural self-development, Prussia—an artificially-created State, not one of natural growth—intervened and succeeded in imposing on Germany her mechanical system of Government. The mechanical army, which strangled the free, human, development of the people. By the defeat of France in 1871, Prussia had induced the whole of Germany to accept Prussian materialism. In the great industrial development that followed, the lust of conquest took a new form in the thirst for wealth. So came the desire to dominate the world, and the trust in material force to secure that trust. The alliance between militarism and industrialism has made Germany ruthless and regardless of all rules in the conduct of the war. Willing to strike at the enemy's industry and wealth, she was filled with the spirit of destruction, and to make her war, in the interests of German commerce, she adopted all methods for terrorizing the enemy population.

Such, says J. Bergson, is the explanation of the spectacle before us, the "Prussianism" which has led to the capture of civilization. Humanity, physically enlarged enormously by the advance of the mechanical arts, was busy trying to fill up "the soulless void in the body politic by creating more liberty, more fraternity, more justice than the world has ever seen." Then, in the person of Germany, brute force sought to usurp the place of human moral force. But, says Bergson in a fine passage, great miracles then happened; moral forces suddenly revealed themselves as creators of material force—in Great Britain especially, where one million two million of soldiers suddenly rose from the earth, and "in a nation thought to be morally divided against itself all became brothers in the space of a day. From that moment the issue of the conflict was not open to doubt. Great spiritual gains, Bergson is confident, will be the issue of the war, and the philosopher of the future will see "how humanity was saved by material suffering from the moral downfall which would have been its end."

THE BLACK WATCH

The Black Watch, represents the regiments of the old Forty-second and Seventy-third Royal Highlanders, which in turn represented independent clan companies from Whig clans, raised between 1715 and 1745 to keep the peace of the Highlands. Each company were the tartan of its commander, and most of these tartans such as that of the Campbells and Munroes, were of a dark character. Thus these companies gained the name of the "Black Watch." The Black Watch, as opposed to the "Red Shirts," "Red Shirts," "The title, "Royal Highlanders," was bestowed in 1752, and at that date, no clan having a prior claim to wear a tartan to the whole, a new dark tartan was expressly designed, which was since been popular to the present. Like all British regiments, the honors gained were won in far-sundered places and entourage Marston, Cornhill, Waterloo, Alma, Sebastopol, Lucknow, Ashanti, Tel-el-Kheir, Egypt, and Palestine, South Africa. Many of these battles were fought against foes which are now not merely friends, but comrades in arms, witness Waterloo, Sebastopol, Lucknow, and, latest of all, Palestine.

HELPS UNITED STATES

Welland Canal Will Help New York State Routes

Major R. W. Leonard, speaking before the Canadian C. E. Society, said: "Owego is about 150 miles nearer (by Erie Canal) to Troy than is Buffalo, and as the enlarged Welland Canal will be, by treaty, free to United States ships, their largest lake ships will deliver their cargoes to 1,500-ton United States barges at Oswego, in the New York State Barge Canal for New York instead of into 200 or 300-ton barges at Buffalo as at present, and thus complete with large Canadian ships discharging into 1,500-ton barges at Prescott or Kingston for Montreal. In the past the little Erie canal boats taking grain from Buffalo to New York have been very keen competitors against the St. Lawrence route. What will be the result of the new conditions when in operation? It would appear that the expenditure on the proposed Welland Canal enlargement when completed will be quite as much to the advantage of the United States as to Canada, and during construction probably much more than half the cost of the United States for coal and machinery."

Great Yachtman and Mascot

Sir Thomas Lipton and "Tim" the young baboon from far off Uganda which Sir Thomas chose as mascot for the Shamrock IV. Though the war interrupted the races set for the Autumn of 1914, Sir Thomas did not give up his hope of eventually winning the America's Cup. He looked up his mascot on the Brooklyn waterfront, set a strong guard over her, and sat back to await as patiently as possible the return of peace.

ARE YOU ON MEAT DIET?

Analysis Shows No Difference Between "Red" and "White" Varieties

If you have rheumatism or gout, or are suffering with nephritis, the doctor is very likely to cut "red" meat from your diet.

You will be allowed "white" meat, however, and this, it has been a widely accepted theory that "red" meat is not only inferior in nutritive qualities, but peculiarly irritating in cases of rheumatism and kindred affections.

The theory dates back to the early part of the 19th century, when an English surgeon, Arden, asserted that there was a difference in the food values of the two varieties of meat as well as in their irritative properties. It has been accepted without question in all the years, never having been seriously challenged until quite recently.

If the protest is late, it is at least vigorous and weighty. It affirms that a chemical investigation reveals nothing in "red" meat which differentiates it from "white" meat as a diet for rheumatism. Both are composed of muscle tissue. They are about equal in nitrogenous content. Nothing in the shape of an extra irritant has been found in "red" meat, nor is the chemist able to discover any of its constituents from which such an element is likely to be produced in any stage of the digestive process.

The merits of meat in the dietary of the rheumatic does not enter into the present controversy. It may or may not be as desirable as permissible. The point is that the two kinds of meat "stand on all fours." The rheumatic, forced to eat white meat until it no longer satisfies the craving for appetite, may at last venture upon beef steak or a bit of game.

And if he suffers as a result, there is the consoling reflection that a like amount of "white" meat would have given him as much extra pain and no gratification whatever. Or, more comforting yet, he has the justification of medical authority in quite satisfying the agency of meat in his suffering.

Synopsis of Canadian North-west Land Regulations.
The sole head of a family, or any male, aged 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. Applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at any Dominion Lands Agency (but not Sub-Agency), on certain conditions.

Duties—Six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, on certain conditions. A habitable house is required except where residence is performed in the vicinity.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre.
Duties—Six months residence in each of three years after earning a certain patent; also 50 acres extra cultivation. Free-emption patent may be obtained as soon as homesteaded patent, on certain conditions.

A settler who has exhausted his homestead right may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.

The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of tough, scrubby or stony land. Live stock may be substituted for cultivation under certain conditions.

TO-DAY AND TO-MORROW ONLY

DR. GOODWIN will give a Free Demonstration, in our Shoe Section, of

Scholl's Foot Comfort Service

Consult the Chicago Foot Specialist FREE

On these two days Free examination and advice will be given by an expert, Dr. Goodwin, under the direction of Dr. Wm. M. Scholl, the famous foot specialist. He will also give demonstration of foot appliances necessary in the correction of foot troubles. This important event was arranged at great expense principally for you who have weak, tired, aching, calloused feet, for you who suffer from bunion pains and corns, or who have broken down arches, crooked toes, and hammer toes, for you who have tried fruitlessly to get relief. Not obliged to buy shoes here.

If you have flat foot, weak or broken down arches, no matter if you are already wearing arch supports, have your feet scientifically examined by this specialist and let him advise you what to do. If you have been using bunion and corn remedies that furnish temporary relief without correcting the cause be sure to get this scientific advice.

If you are one of the many thousands who have always had trouble in being properly fitted to shapely footwear, come to our store. The difficulty will be solved easily and simply and perfect foot comfort will be given you.

WARNING: You may not realize it but those slight aches at the heels and ankles, those painful cramped toes, that body weariness and brain fog are typical of weak arches and likely to result in a serious derangement of the whole nervous system. Many people have mistaken these pains for rheumatism of the feet and have tried internal remedies to correct them when all they really needed was proper support of the foot arches.

Reason for this Demonstration

It has been our ever constant aim to make this the most progressive shoe store in town. For months we have thoroughly investigated the efficiency of the service rendered users of Dr. Scholl's Foot Specialties and wearers of his appliances. We have seen people who previously walked with great difficulty, now able to stand the most rigorous exercising of the feet, enduring long walks and long standing without the slightest annoyance. We have found every one of Dr. Scholl's corrective devices anatomically correct and scientifically perfect. To give our patrons and friends the fullest benefit of the Scholl Foot Comfort Service we have arranged this demonstration and will henceforth conduct in our store an orthopedic department for continued service of this character. We are headquarters for Scholl's Foot Comfort Specialties and Appliances.

There's a School Appliance for Every Ailment or Deformity

Whatever your foot trouble may be, there is a Scholl's appliance or device which will correct permanently the trouble from which you are suffering. Consult this noted specialist and let him advise you about your trouble.

W. C. T. U. COLUMN

Report of the fourth annual convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union for the district of Central Alberta, held in Daysland on May 11th and 12th.

The morning session opened with Mrs. Sharpe of Lacombe, District President in the chair. The devotional exercises were conducted by the President. The roll call was given, twenty-one delegates were present. Mrs. McKinney, of Waskia, Provincial President was present, and took part in the discussion and general business of the session.

Mrs. Sharp was made a life member of the Union. After a number of reports were heard, a paper prepared by Miss Una Grant, of Waskia, on the work of the "Y," was given by Miss Reddin. In the discussion which followed, Mrs. McKinney said that she was very much impressed with the poor work the Province is doing in "Y" work. This Province has splendid material, if only the W. C. T. U. would take the trouble to organize and look after the work.

So many of our young women, when asked to help or lead a meeting, say, "I gladly would if I knew how." Our young girls were taught in the "Y" we would not need to go begging for leaders. After the discussion Mrs. McKinney gave a short address on the evil of the public school. She wished to call the attention of the ladies to numerous letters she receives from all over the province for advice and help to combat the evil in the public schools. This is no new question. A lady from Toronto says that the biggest evil question, in the world to-day, is that which overshadows the liquor question, we must begin preventive methods before the next generation is born.

Dr. Lincoln, of Calgary, in an address, a short time ago said that the beginning of evil amongst the young people of today, spells "pleasure." And 65 p.c. of the male population are affected with disease. Mrs. McKinney said we should begin at the beginning, and that is, "L. T. T." and "Y" children to work and instruct them properly. Children are not bad always, but their development and natural instinct arouses their curiosity.

Our teachers in the public schools need to be on their guard, but all teachers of mature years are not awake.

Have some reliable adult remain in the home during the noon hour. Let the toilet premises be decent and sanitary; have supervised play grounds, and see the children come home directly from school.

Each of our Unions can begin with this corrective, preventive method, and insist that this be done. Mrs. Millan led in minute prayer, after which session adjourned.

The devotional exercises opened the afternoon session were led by Mrs. Carlson, of Camrose. A paper on "Scientific Temperance," by Mrs. Graves of Red Deer, was read. Liquor is a poison. Lord Kitchener says, in India court martials have been reduced one-half since the abolishment of liquor, and that out of thirty-two court martials not one was a total abstainer. Moderate drinking shortens life, lessens vitality and lowers the morals. It is stated on good authority that thirty-five out of seventy infants born in Switzerland, were conceived during the wine season. Three billions of gallons of wine, beer and liquor were consumed in the United States last year, at a cost of nearly as many dollars. What a fearful waste and if that money were turned into proper channels, for the uplift of humanity, instead of its degradation, what happiness where now is sorrow, and health instead of sickness, both physically and morally. The value of the educational half-hour was dealt with by Mrs. Hall of Camrose. She said, some unions do not have time for the educational half-hour. "Too much stress is put on saving and not on living. The things that are seen are temporal, but the unseen things—the things of the mind, are treasures of Heaven. To go some other direction in the educational half hour. Every step in our work is linked with the Divine—even our pin. A young girl at Toronto station walked up to a lady wearing a white ribbon pin, and asked if she might stay with her, as a crowd of young men were saying insulting things to her. She said, you know they dare not insult the white ribbon, so I know I will be safe.

In their union at Camrose they impaled a line of five cents for every time a member goes out on the street without the white ribbon. Mrs. McKinney then advised us to develop unity and pass ideas along. Begin meetings sharp on time and be concise, thus leaving time for the educational work. The program is so thoroughly prepared, make the program so interesting that people will feel they have missed something when they miss a meeting. It isn't fair to ask one person to take topics all the time. Have variety occasionally, ask a man to give a talk on a popular subject. Be in sympathy with what the different members are interested in and have them write a topic along that line.

The question box was next dealt with by Mrs. McKinney. The question arose, to what extent are white ribbons justified in transferring their support from W. C. T. U. work to Red Cross activities? Our Red Cross work should not take the place of W. C. T. U. work but is an added burden. Mrs. McKinney gave as her opinion and experience, that the greatest workers of Red Cross are the majority of cases, were W. C. T. U. women.

The Dominion Convention is to be held in Regina the last week in June. Two contestants from Alberta in the diamond medal contest, were asked for. The matter of enacting Mrs. Hyslop as organizer for the Province for two months was discussed. Both subjects were left over for consideration. Session adjourned.

The Thursday evening session was loud, Sedgewick. The minutes of this morning session were read and approved. A paper on Scientific Temperance in Schools was read by Mrs. Aylesworth, of Olds, in which she said, Let us emphasize Scientific Temperance in Schools. We must either be moving backwards or forwards, we cannot stand still. We must educate the rising generation in scientific temperance in the schools, for every few parents are capable or have the time to teach this to their children, but as most teachers have taken on the course, let it be taken in the schools. Stimulate the interest of healthy rivalry, such as essay contests. Offer cash prizes to keep up interest, choose competent judges, advertise the contests well, so no children may see it worthy of notice. Publish the results in local papers. A lively discussion followed which brought out many good ideas regarding the work. Our responsibility regarding the "franchise," was dealt with by Mrs. Poole, of Waskia. The law is not as lenient as we think, it is up to us to see the laws enforced. In the discussion which followed, Mrs. McKinney said that we should study Alberta's laws, a good idea to study it in our union. And the women should all work together and all keep cool, then we can accomplish something definite. Unfinished business was then attended to. Only one invitation was received for the next Convention—from Corcoran, and it was feared the distance was so great that it would be impossible to have a representative convention, so the matter was left in the hands of the executive to decide. The paying of a contestant's fare to the diamond medal contest at Regina was voted on and carried.

A paper on "Narcotics" was read by Mrs. Eastly of Bawlf. She held it for us to eliminate this problem, it means continually hammering away at it. Education must play an important part in it. We are probably not as alert as we should be because it is not as swift, and sudden in its effects as liquor. We must ever be on the alert and report every case of unlawful sale and use of narcotics. Mrs. Eastly urged the forming of "L. T. L." societies to combat the evil. After the closing prayer the final adjournment was made. Friday evening the gold medal contest was held in the Presbyterian church, the meeting was opened by the singing of "Coronation" and Rev. J. McKean offered prayer. There were four contestants and the competition was keen. After lengthy deliberation, the medal was awarded to Miss Mabel Poole, Waskia. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered the people of Daysland for their kindness and hospitality and also to the band for their assistance. The singing of the National Anthem brought to an end this last of the series. The adjournment was made. Friday night was as well as helpful meetings.

U. F. A. Church Service at Edwell

On Sunday, May 21, this local union gathered in force at the School house for church service, this day having been appointed for the purpose. The Rev. Mr. Meek of Willowdale, kindly conducted the service, character, the singing being especially good. Everybody enjoyed the splendid day. Mr. Meek chose his text "And behold a sower went forth to sow" which was very appropriate, he pointing out how the U.F.A. was sowing the seed of good-fellowship and co-operation amongst its members and further he pointed out that the U.F.A. stood for justice to all, as its motto was first of all "Equality."

Mr. Meek in the course of his remarks pointed out how each and every one was a sower but he sowed, leaving that for others. He cited as examples Livingston sowing the first seeds of Christianity in the darkest Africa, Florence Nightingale, that of the Red Cross, Dr. Lister who revolutionized surgery by the introduction of antiseptics, and many others. His address was excellently chosen and appropriate to the occasion. It was thoroughly appreciated by all who were present.

Eckville

Mr. Litt, who is with the C.A.M.C., is expected to spend a few days leave in this district.

Mr. Fairweather holds a church service in the Eckville Hall every Sunday at 11 o'clock, to which all are welcome.

R. H. Wells is busy getting his cheese factory ready and hopes to be operating soon. Although a good many farmers are shipping their cream to distant points, Harry expects to get a share of the business, because the thinking farmer knows it pays to support local enterprise.

Although the sports were postponed on the 24th, a very successful dance was held in the evening. Owing to the efforts of Miss McKean, Miss Kinna and Mrs. Eckford, Jr., a good sum was collected for the Red Cross. If you did not get a Red Cross tag on the 24th, you will on the 1st of June.

Owing to the weather, the Victoria Day celebrations at Eckville were postponed to the 1st of June, when it is hoped the weather will be more kind. Owing to the generosity of the business men of the village, and others, the list of prizes for the 1st of June will be the best ever observed at Eckville, and will be worth while competing for. There will be a dance in the evening, when prizes will be furnished by Messrs. Kinna, Turner and Platoon, a combination well and favorably known. You will not regret taking a day off on the First of June, if you spend it at Eckville with your family.

CANNIBALS ARE HERE!
TURKS FEARED MAORIS

Strange War Dance at Gallipoli by Highly Educated Sons of Chivalrous Cannibals

An officer of the New Zealand contingent writes: "At Gallipoli a group of men were sitting round the entrance to a dugout in their midst squatted a Greek interpreter translating into very bad English some of the news contained in a copy of the Constantinople newspaper. The article said: 'Information is still lacking as to the composition of the enemy's forces, but it appears from indications received from Europe that they must consist chiefly of black men from Africa and Australia. Thus the Straits for the first time in history have had to endure attack by cannibals.' No wonder the listening Australians and New Zealanders laughed uproariously. The British force at Gallipoli had been strengthened by the arrival of the Maori contingent, direct descendants of most chivalrous Maori warriors, to whom the Maori was a human joint was termed, was a much esteemed delicacy. Nowadays the Maori instead of fattening his slaves depends on his time, if he is ambitious, in getting his M.A. degree or passing his accountancy examination."

A Splendid Race

These men who landed at Gallipoli were the first Polynesian troops to be brought overseas to fight for the Mother Country, and having the spirit of their ancestors do it well. Back in the Maori were their forebears warriors were besieged by British troops. The 8th Regiment, it was, sat down around the fortress gates and prepared to starve out the men inside the paha. The little paha, as the Maori called the besieging regiment, ran out of food first, and the situation was getting serious when the pallid gates of the paha opened and a line of brown figures carrying goods filled with water approached the British trenches. Fearing a rise the colonel of the 8th Regiment ordered his men to stand to arms, but the chief leading the water-bearers smiled. He made a courteous speech which he said naively that both parties hitherto had been enjoying themselves, and it would be a pity if so small a matter as lack of water should put a stop to what was really a most pleasant thing. Such a thing was unthinkable. There was abundance of water in the paha for both besieged and besiegers. With further complimentary references he took his leave, and the three-hike party returned the brown backs for a minute or two in amazement and then buried their faces in the cool ground. The next morning the paha was empty, and the garrison had walked out a happy way through what had looked like an impassable swamp. Only a few old women were left to shout and make a noise during the night.

While Moccles Shivered Now the Maori fights with us, and he has exchanged his old Tower musket for the Mark II. Star Line E., with which he is a phenomenal shot. The Maori started to dig themselves in, and made their bivouacs in an old watercourse on the left flank. Then the Pasha (white man) General came along and addressed them, and afterwards awarded a scene that has no counterpart in the world and varied annals of the Dardanelles. The Maori, privates and officers, lined up. With protruding tongues and a rhythmic slapping of hands on thighs and chests, with a deep concerted "a-ah," ending abruptly they began the Maori haka—the war dance. Shill and light the leader intoned the solo parts, and the chorus crashed out. As the dancers became more animated the beat of their feet echoed through the gullies of Gallipoli. The leader now declaimed fiercely, now his voice sank to an eerie whisper, still perfectly audible, and he crouched low to the ground so the men behind him posed. Suddenly, after a concerted crash of voices, the chant ended with a stilted hiss, a stamp of the right foot, and the detonation of palms slapping the hard ground.

A hundred yards away in the Turkish trenches perplexed Moslems listened to this blood-curdling serenade, and one of them in explanation produced his copy of the Koran. Ominous nods and headshakings followed its reading. "For the first time in history the Straits have had to endure attack by cannibals." And the leader of the haka, a full-blooded Maori, wrote M.A., LL.D. after his name, and spoke better English than many a white man.

GIDDY COCK-OF-THIEP

Fether Dresses For the Whole Family in This Feathered Tribe

There's never any argument about clothes in the Cock-of-the-pit family. It's a one-sided question and it's settled to suit Mr. Cock-of-the-pit. When there's a splash to be made the father of the family makes it himself.

Though you may think this rather selfish on the part of the gay old cock, it's after all, all a war arrangement and one that Mother Cock fully approves. Because if the mother of the Cock-of-the-pits were any feathers she'd be traced to her nest by the half-savage little boys of Brazil and

THE COCK-OF-THIEP Central America and other distant southern countries where these birds with the funny family names make their home, and there wouldn't be any little birds hatched out, and in time there'd be no more Cock-of-the-pits left to brighten the forest and make the woods echo with their queer cry, which, even if it isn't a song, is rather pleasant to hear in the gloomy southern jungles.

City Council Meeting

The regular meeting of the City Council was held in the City Hall, Thursday evening last.

All the aldermen were present except Alderman Botticelli, and the Mayor occupied the chair.

MacNeill & Young, of Toronto, wrote the city engineer re city bonds.

The following wire was received from MacNeill & Young, Toronto: "Letter May 15th received, would be willing to purchase fifty to six per cent three year treasury bills payable New York at ninety-four. If satisfactory, please confirm subject bills being issued. You need not wait until issue is authorized as if it is not to be made please keep us closely advised by telegraph." Filed.

Health Inspector Anquetil reported that it would take ten days yet to clean up the city. He reported the isolation hospital in a very dirty state, and the bedding and utensils outside. He had taken tests of the creameries for butter fat with the result following: Red Deer Creamery, cream 25.5; milk 2.5. Hephworth & Trimble cream 24.5; milk 4.4. W. Henshaw, milk 4.6.

The principal of Mace College wrote asking for information on assessment for public and separate schools.

Liquor Hospital, wrote re claim for a patient from Ardrey. Commissioner Stephenson replied is Arley was about thirty miles from Red Deer they certainly could have no claim on this city.

Moved by Ald. Galbraith, seconded by Ald. Collison, that the Secretary-Treasurer be requested, in recording the minutes of the motion, to designate the by-law by such a title as would indicate its contents in addition to its serial number. Carried.

Moved by Ald. Collison, seconded by Ald. Lord, that this Council grants leave of absence to Mr. Chas. Anderson, Chief of Police, until six months after the close of the war, or until Mr. Anderson has opportunity to return from the front. And that the Commissioners be instructed to recommend arrangements for the filling of his position and the discharge of his duties after July 10.

And, in granting this leave of absence, this Council would place on record its deep sense of the most efficient and highly satisfactory service which Chief Anderson has given this city in his responsible position, a service which has given the citizens safety and security at all times, and would express its keen appreciation of the loyalty to duty and to the military need of the hour which has prompted him to make the sacrifice he is making in enlisting for service in the war.

And that a copy of this resolution be sent to Chief Anderson. Carried. Moved by Ald. Galbraith, seconded by Ald. Smith, that the Solicitor be requested to have the Street Naming by-law requested by this Council in 1914, ready for presentation at the next regular meeting of Council. Carried.

Moved by Ald. Galbraith, seconded by Ald. Johns, that the Commissioners and Ald. Lord and Collison be a committee to report to this Council at the next regular meeting as to the status of hotel accommodation in Red Deer after July 1. Carried.

Moved by Ald. Johns, seconded by Ald. Smith, that the Corporation of the City of Red Deer extend its heartfelt thanks to Mr. J. B. Chalmers, superintendent of the water pumping branch, Department of the Interior, Ottawa, and to Mr. C. H. Attwood, chief engineer of the Alberta Power surveys branch, and their associates for the careful investigation and exhaustive report on the possible development of power at the Canyon site on the Red Deer river, near Red Deer, and its cost, forwarded to the City Council under date of May 4, 1916. While disappointed to some extent in its conclusions—because of the checking of hopes which were based more on general optimism than on any real examination of the project, yet they appreciate the value of them as such an authoritative survey of the hydro-electric power possibilities at that point, and are most grateful to the Department and to its officers for the interest and trouble taken and the effort put forth to give the City such a valuable report without cost to the Corporation.

And that a copy of this resolution be sent to Mr. Chalmers, with the request that its purpose be conveyed by him to Mr. Attwood, and any other officers of the Branch engaged in the work.

Police Attack Women Rioters in German City

London, May 26.—An Amsterdam dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company says that eighteen women were wounded in a fight between police and food rioters at Frankfurt-on-the-Main Wednesday night, according to a dispatch received at The Hague.

The riot is said to have started owing to a shortage of meat in the local butcher shops. Three hundred and fifty women who had been told there was no meat for them marched through the streets carrying black flaming flags and singing socialist songs.

The women forced their way into one butcher shop, although it was guarded by soldiers and policemen. After a search they found some meat which they cut up and continued their march, holding the pieces above their heads. The police attempted to take the meat from the women and a general fight followed in which the officers used their swords. One woman was arrested for shouting "Down with the emperor!" A local paper which referred to this affair was ordered suspended for two months.

King Affixes Signature to Service Bill

Well Over Five Million Men Have Already Enlisted

London, May 26.—The signature of King George was affixed Wednesday to the military service bill recently passed by parliament.

In giving the royal sanction to the bill, King George issued the following message to the nation:

"To enable our country to organize more effectively its military resources in the present great struggle for the cause of civilization, I have, acting on the advice of my ministers, deemed it necessary to enroll every able bodied male between the ages of 18 and 41.

"I desire to take this opportunity of expressing to my people my recognition and appreciation of the splendid patriotism and self-sacrifice they displayed in raising by voluntary enlistment since the commencement of the war no less than 5,011,000 men—an effort far surpassing that of any other nation in similar circumstances recorded in history, and one which will be a lasting source of pride to future generations."

"I am confident the magnificent spirit which has hitherto sustained our people through the trials of this terrible war will inspire them to endure the additional sacrifices now imposed upon them, and that, with God's help, lead us and our allies to a victory which shall achieve the liberation of Europe."

A Divided Liberal Party

Ottawa, May 26.—Political life in Ottawa is a succession of ups and downs. It is like travelling on the scenic railway on the Midway Plaisance. Sometimes the Opposition is confident of defeating the Government if it could only get to the country. Sometimes some members of the Government party feel disposed to agree. Then something happens, and the outlook changes.

The most remarkable change took place on the introduction of the bilingual resolution. Previous to that the Liberals were fairly confident. They counted upon gaining through the appointments, the dissatisfactions, the extra taxes, and all the rest of the conditions attached to military activity. They counted upon the emotional temperament of a nation at war being easily swayed by charges of extravagance and crookedness in militia expenditure. Some of them were angry with their leader for agreeing to an extension of the parliamentary term. Now I wonder if he had then in mind fathering a bilingual resolution? He has great confidence in the theory that the public mind is the thing which public forgets with. It requires time, of course, but not much. He tried it out with the autonomy measures for Alberta and Saskatchewan, and it worked. Plenty of people who said they would never vote for him again forgot all about it by the time the next election came on. Having an extension of term, he could put himself right with his people and their clergy, trusting them to remember and English Liberals to forget and forgive as they have done so often in the past.

WILL TAKE NO CHANCES

Certainly the feeling at Ottawa now is that the Government had no reason to expect an adverse verdict from the people. I have pointed out before that the Canadian people would think twice before giving the many pleasures of learning that they had turned out the Government, which proposed to present three dreadnoughts to Great Britain and had turned in the party that opposed the contribution. Flags would fly in German cities if it was reported that the Government which sent so many Canadians to France had been defeated at the polls.

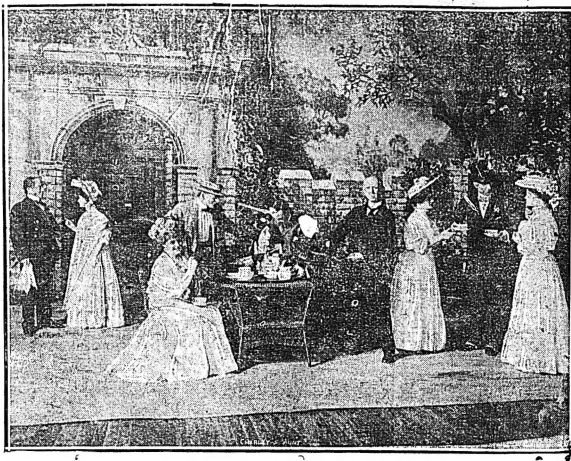

Add to that the newly-created situation and you will know why the Liberals are despondent. They realize that English-speaking Canadians will think twice before they take chances upon handing over the reins of government to a province that has done so little to prosecute the war and aid in patriotic funds, and has taken advantage of the war to prosecute a campaign of alleged lingual rights in Ontario and, after a while, Manitoba.

WOULD ABOLISH OFFICERS' SERVANTS

London, May 25.—An interesting suggestion made by Col. Churchill in his speech in the house yesterday was the abolition of officers' servants and grooms, and careful consideration of cavalry regiments. He pointed out that there were 200,000 officers in the army, with an equal number of servants, and 60,000 grooms, an army in itself. There were also great masses of cavalry which could be used if the government would build new formations of men of these famous regiments.

Slaughter of All History Surpassed in Hell of War That Rages Around Verdun

Whole Regiments Melt Away in Few Minutes

GERMANS LOSE TWO MEN TO EVERY ONE OF FRENCH—FOE LOSES 100,000 IN THREE DAYS

Paris, May 25.—Since Saturday the Verdun deadlock has changed to the most terrific pitched battle in history. Fully half a million men are engaged altogether, without respite from slaughter. Whole regiments melt in a few minutes, but others take their places, only to perish in the same way.

"It is a battle of madmen in the midst of a volcanic eruption," is the description given the correspondents by a staff captain, who left the front on a special mission yesterday. He continued:

"Between Saturday morning and noon Tuesday we reckon the Germans used up 100,000 men on the Meuse front alone. That is the price they paid for the recapture of our recent gains and the seizure of our outlying positions. The victory separating Le Mort Homme from Hill 281 is choked with bodies. A full brigade was moved down in a quarter of an hour's holocaust by our machine guns. Le Mort Homme itself passed from our possession, but the crescent Douaumont position to the south prevents the enemy from utilizing it.

"The scene there is appalling but is dwarfed in comparison with the fighting around Douaumont. West of the Meuse at least one dies in the open air, but at Douaumont is the horror of darkness, where the men fight in tunnels screaming in the last of butchery, deafened by shells and grenades, stifled by smoke.

THE HELL OF DOUAUMONT

"Even the wounded refuse to abandon the struggle. As though possessed by devils, they fight on until they fall senseless from loss of blood. A surgeon in a front line post told me that in a rebout at the southern part of the front, 200 French dead fully half had more than two wounds. These he was able to treat seemed utterly insane. They kept shouting war cries and their eyes glazed, and, strange of all, they appeared indifferent to pain. At one moment an anesthetic ran out, owing to the impossibility of bringing forward fresh supplies through the bombardment. Arms, even legs, were amputated without a groan, and afterwards the men seemed not to have felt the shock. They asked for a cigarette or inquired how the battle was going.

UNCEASING GERMAN WAVE

"Our losses in retaking the fort were less heavy than was expected, as the enemy was demoralized by the cannonade, by far the most furious I have ever seen from French guns—and also was taken by surprise. But the subsequent action took a terrible toll. Cover was all blown to pieces. Every German rush was preceded by two or three hours of shell storm and then, when the attack came, in numbers that seemed unceasing. Again and again the defenders' ranks were renewed.

ALL RECORDS BROKEN

"Never have attacks been pushed so continuously. The night of Sunday night at Gettysburg was no child play, nor was Hougomont at Waterloo, but here men have been hung 5,000 at a time at brief intervals for the last six hours. Practically the whole sector has been covered by a cannonade, compared to which Gettysburg was a hailstorm and Waterloo mere fire works. Some shell holes were 30 feet across, the explosion killing 50 men simultaneously.

DEAD HEAPED IN ROWS

"Before our lines the German dead heaped in long rows. I am told one observer calculated there were 7,000 in a distance of 700 yards. Besides, they can not succor their wounded, whereas ours to the extent of at least one in three is removed safely to the rear. Despite the bombardment supplies continue coming. Even the chloroform I spoke of demand for all classes of merchandise both for present and future requirements.

In the far west and northwest complaints are almost entirely absent, progress being steady and the outlook in all directions decidedly encouraging.

Winnipeg reports the maintenance of considerable activity in almost all leading lines of business, with especially liberal buying of dry goods, clothing, footwear, groceries and hardware for both present and future needs. In fact, more money is in circulation, and the distribution of merchandise, both locally and in the country, is maintained with very satisfactory volume.

Saskatoon reports a brisk wholesale business, and retail demand considerable improvement. Country buyers are operating freely, and prospects are regarded as being unusually bright. Generally favorable conditions are reported by Regina, with the volume of business in wholesale and retail lines showing marked improvement over a few weeks ago.

The movement in most staple lines at Calgary continues to expand, and general satisfaction is expressed by merchants over the situation.

Edmonton reports the prevalence of generally favorable conditions, business with country dealers showing steady improvement, while local retail trade is growing quite active. Little change can be noted in the general situation at Vancouver, but wholesale and retail trade is fairly well maintained in volume, and the trend appears to be toward improvement.

Gross earnings of all Canadian railroads reporting to date for two weeks in May show an increase of 54.1 per cent as compared with the corresponding period a year ago. Commercial failures in the Dominion of Canada this week numbered 36, as against 14 last week and 42 the week last year.

TERRIFIC SMASH IN FEW WEEKS TO ELIMINATE BULGARS AND TURKS

British, Serbian and Italian Forces Concentrated at Saloniki

Rome, May 26.—A terrific smash within a few weeks, aimed at eliminating the Turks and Bulgars from the war, will be the allies' first great stroke for peace.

This is reported in general circles today. Allied attacks against Bulgaria and in Mesopotamia will be followed by a tremendous offensive against the Austro-Germans in an attempt to win the war before winter.

British, Serbian and Italian forces are reported concentrated at Saloniki awaiting to strike against the Bulgars and Germans in southern Serbia.

Meanwhile the Russians are pressing on toward Baghdad, driving back the Turks.

The public continues to watch with confidence the official statements regarding the situation on the "Trentino" front. It is now reported that the first Italian reverses were due to a shortage of heavy cannon to cope with the big Austrian guns. The French are said to have come to the rescue with artillery.

Business Outlook in Dominion is Very Encouraging

New York, May 26.—Dispatches to Dun's Review from branch offices at R. G. Dun & Co., in leading cities of the Dominion of Canada, indicate that favorable conditions continue at practically all points, and that the immediate outlook is highly encouraging.

Central reports that sentiment among merchants and manufacturers generally is very optimistic, spring trading orders being in substantial volume, while business placed for late delivery in the principal staples, among them dry goods, clothing, footwear, groceries, hardware, paints, etc., denotes much confidence in the future. Manufacturers, especially in textiles and footwear, are extremely busy, and with labor well employed possibilities are favorable for a continued demand for all kinds of merchandise.

Business is active in Quebec, both wholesalers and retailers reporting a very satisfactory movement of seasonable commodities, in spite of the high prevailing level of prices.

Sentiment continues cheerful at Toronto, business conditions at that city showing steady improvement, although the weather has not been wholly favorable. Retail trade has been fairly active, with general prosperity indicated by a disposition to purchase the better grades of goods, while wholesalers report a very brisk

Miss Ella Stent Passes Away

The community was shocked on Saturday evening to hear that Miss Gertrude Eleanor Stent, only daughter of Mrs. Stent, died very suddenly that evening. Miss Stent suffered a severe attack of pneumonia a few months ago from which she was apparently recovering slowly and only last week she was made the recipient of a present from St. Luke's Choir, of which she was a member for a number of years. She was to have been married to-day at St. Luke's church to the Rev. F. A. Knight, B.A., of Drummondville, P.Q.

The funeral, which was delayed in the expectancy that Rev. Claude Stent, brother of the deceased, might arrive from the East, will be held this Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock from St. Luke's church, after which interment will take place in the Red Deer Cemetery.

The News joins with the many friends of Mrs. Stent and the sorrowing family in extending to them heartfelt sympathy in their great bereavement.
